Multnomah County Vital Aging Task Force Stephen Ristau Bio

Stephen Ristau has over 30 years in the human service sector as an executive, senior manager, consultant and trainer, and clinician. He has worked in nonprofit, governmental and corporate environments.

He has served as president and CEO of four nonprofits in the Northeast, most recently at The Governor's Prevention Partnership, a statewide partnership between the State of Connecticut and the business sector focusing on positive youth development.

Now living in the Northwest, he works through his consulting firm, Ristau & Associates, providing project consultation and training services to nonprofit organizations across the United States in areas of the new workforce, board governance, leadership coaching and development, strategic planning, and organization development.

His recent work has focused on expanding the connections between older Americans, especially the baby-boomer generation, and nonprofits. He sees great opportunities for nonprofits to engage the talents and passion of experienced professionals to serve and work in their communities, and find greater meaning and purpose in their lives.

He received his M.A. in Human Development and Family Relations from the University of Connecticut, is a trained marriage and family therapist and parent educator, and a practicing spiritual director.

Stephen can be reached at stephenristau@gmail.com.
