AGENDA TOPIC / PRESENTER	NOTES	CONTACT INFORMATION
2010 Juvenile Crime Trends / Recidivism Liang Wu Multco Department of Community Justice Research & Evaluation Specialist	Liang shared an overview of the 2010 Juvenile Crime Trends -- the number of criminal referrals received by Multnomah County Juvenile Service Division decreased by 17.8%, from 3,384 in 2009 to 2,781 in 2010. Referrals dropped substantially for many crimes, including property crimes such as theft and burglary. The number of youth offenders also decreased between 2009 and 2010. The unique count of Multnomah County youth who had at least one criminal referral in 2010 was the lowest since 2000. The 12-month recidivism rate for the Year 2009 offenders was 31.1%. It was virtually same as the rate of the previous year. It was noted that we need to define "criminal referral rate" vs. "recidivism" -- OJJDA will be working to define this. There was a suggestion to look at both adjudicated vs. prosecuted.	If you have questions or need more information, contact: Liang Wu DCJ Research & Evaluation Unit 501 SE Hawthorne Blvd, #250 Portland, OR 97214 (503) 988-4564 liang.wu@multco.us http://web.multco.us/dcj/research-reports
Youth and Gang Violence Network Analysis Collaborative A Proposal to Formalize the Collaborative Matt O'Keefe	In September Of 2011, Multnomah County's Youth and Gang Violence Steering Committee approved the formation of a group of analysts from Portland Police, Multnomah County Sheriff's Office, and Local Public Safety Coordinating Council (the Analyst Collaborative) to demonstrate the application of Network Analysis software and collaborative data sharing to inform efforts to address and respond	If you have questions or need more information, contact: Matt O'Keefe Multco Public Safety Coordinating Council Staff Assistant

Multco Public Safety Coordinating Council Staff Assistant	to events of gang violence in Multnomah County. This Analyst Collaborative created an analysis product that combined agency information, developed methods for displaying this information graphically, and developed materials to assist consumers of the analysis with interpretation of the final analysis product, or "network map." The resulting product was found to be relevant and informative of the work of law enforcement and criminal justice staff for the purposes of 1?understanding the risk characteristics of persons associated with the subject of the network map and 2? Identifying which agency may be the most effective actor for prevention, intervention and suppression activities. Resulting from this demonstration project of collaborative network analysis, additional analyses have been requested from the Analyst Collaborative. As these projects request have emerged, it has become abundantly clear to the Analyst Collaborative and the leadership of Multnomah's Youth and Gang Violence Steering Committee that a formal agreement, policies and procedures should be put in place to preserve and enhance this collaboration. The goal is to create a coordinated and collaborative analysis process contributing to the prevention and de-escalation of events of youth and gang violence that is sustainable and informed by shared data and analysis. They are asking folks to commit to 1 year and it was suggested they join with the Rapid Response group. There was concern this helpful tool would be misused resulting in racial profiling -- who will monitor for misuse? Matt will work to get information out without creating juvenile records. There was also a suggestion to map the resiliency factors as well as the risk factors -- needs to be comprehensive reporting of the communities.	501 SE Hawthorne Blvd, 6th floor Portland, OR 97214 503.988.5002 matthew.g.okeefe@multco.us
Budget Update	LPSCC reported they are looking at cuts after the legislation meets. Multco Department of Community Justice submitted budget to Chair -- after state reports cuts they will go back and adjust. Portland Police Bureau -- looking at 4% cuts in the Spring which impacts about 55 staff.
