

Summer 2013 Training Events

Healing Children through Creativity: Art Therapy Training Workshops

presented by

Catherine Rogers Jonsson, MFA, MA, ATR-BC

ATCB Registered & Board Certified Art Therapist

Seattle University - Seattle, Washington - July 24 & 25, 2013

McMenamin's Kennedy School - Portland, Oregon - July 29 & 30, 2013

De Pere Community Center - De Pere, Wisconsin - August 5 & 6, 2013

The Healing through Creativity: Art Therapy Training Workshops introduce the basic principles and practice of art therapy with emotionally, behaviorally, developmentally and medically challenged children and adolescents. These two-day workshops blend theories and experiential exercises offering a thorough introduction in the therapeutic use of visual art as a powerful treatment modality.

Presenter Catherine Rogers Jonsson is a registered/board certified art therapist with the American Art Therapy Credentials Board and a credentialed professional member of the American Art Therapy Association. She is a graduate of Columbia University in NYC (School of the Arts, MFA: Visual Art) and the University of Wisconsin-Superior (MA: Art Therapy). Catherine has more than 20 years of clinical art therapy experience and offers a mixture of creativity, humor, dynamic teaching and compassionate insights to her workshops.

Continuing Education: 1.4 CEUs or 1.0 Graduate Academic Credit are available through Portland State University for an extra fee. Portland State University is an approved provider of CEUs and graduate credit by the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC).

Tuition: Early discounted tuition now through July 1, 2013: $300.00 (10% off early tuition for groups of 3 or more).

Standard Tuition – July 2 and forward: $350.00 (10% off tuition for groups of 3 or more).

For more information and online registration www.paintedchild.com